

NEEDFUL KNOWLEDGE

Barre People Should Learn to Detect the Approach of Kidney Disease.

The symptoms of kidney trouble are many. Disordered kidneys often excrete a thick, cloudy, offensive urine, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding. The back may ache, headaches and dizzy spells may occur, and the victim is often weighted down by a feeling of languor and fatigue. Neglect these warnings and there is danger. Delay often proves fatal.

You can use no better endorsed kidney remedy than Doan's Kidney Pills. Here's Barre proof of their merit:

Mrs. Emma Gay, 8 Harrington street, Barre, says: "We have used Doan's Kidney Pills for many years and have always found them reliable. My kidneys were weak, and I had pains in my back. I used Doan's Kidney Pills, and they helped me greatly."

Price 50c, at all dealers'. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Gay had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

"Under Cover" at Opera House Next Saturday.

At the opera house for an engagement of matinee and night, Saturday, Sept. 26, Selwyn & Co., will present "Under Cover," a melodrama of smart New York life by Roi Cooper Megrue. This is the play which holds the record for length of runs in the city of Boston, having played for thirty weeks at the Plymouth theatre. The play was taken into Boston for its metropolitan premier and so instantaneous and emphatic was the success it scored that it ran from Christmas day through the summer with a short interval intervening for vacation purposes.

In "Under Cover" the author has interwoven with his story of costumes fraud and secret service methods, the account of a woman's love and a battle of wits. The story tells of the attempt of the custom's agent to discover the smuggler of a valuable diamond necklace, but they are handicapped by the social and political prominence of those suspected. Ordinary means cannot be employed, and in order that he may get in touch with the suspects, the inspector traps a young woman into agreeing to become a secret service agent. The woman is shrewd and clever and to shield a younger sister, and the man she loves contrives in the battle of wits, to beat the shrewdest detectives of the service. There is an astonishing denouement in the play which makes it one of the most talked of dramas produced in many years. Selwyn & Co. have engaged an excellent cast to appear here in the play.—Adv.

An Up to Date Matrimonial Method

By OSCAR COX

"Well, I declare!" exclaimed Kate Goodwin.

"What is it?" asked her friend, Clara Beall.

"If that isn't the most monumental piece of impudence I ever heard of!"

"Tell me what it is."

"You know that red headed, freckled, loose jointed Alf Woodbridge?"

"Yes."

"Well, he's sent me a printed circular stating that he's in the market for a wife. He says he's up for competition, a prize. Just think of it! He'll marry the girl who passes the best examination in those things that are requisite in a wife."

"Do you mean to say that he has had the assurance to do such a thing?"

"I do."

"He hasn't sent me one of his circulars. If he did I'd send it right back to him."

"I'll! Better wait till you get one of 'em. He says that only a few of the most desirable young ladies of the town will be invited to compete."

"Worse and worse. I wonder that he hasn't died of conceit before this."

"Conceited persons never die of that disease; they seem to thrive on it."

"Of course you won't take any notice of his circulars."

"Certainly not, but there's one thing I'd like to know—that is, if any of the girls so deems herself as to fall in with his idea, which one of them will get the?"

"Prize. Just think of that fellow offering himself as a prize!"

"I'll tell you what I have a mind to do."

"What?"

"I've a mind to fill in his questions just to see what comes of it."

"Can't you find that out without pandering to his silly conceit?"

"No; he says that no information will be given any girl who has not been invited to compete and does not enter the race."

"Race—oh heavens! Don't you know that the girl who wins will let it be known even if she submits to the indignity for fun or to punish him?"

"Well, I'm going to pretend to be a candidate, and if I win I shall just tell him what I think of him."

"That's a good idea. I believe I'll do so too."

There were a
